I thought I would share with you guys a pretty delicious sweet treat, inspired by one of my favorite movies, Valentines day was upon us. He was all kind of rude to me when he told me not to do this. To my surprise the relationship was pretty good, We were both a little lonely. But, I had a feeling that something was fishy. I got the idea to go out and buy a couple of candles for our 'It's A Small World' cupcakes. The cream filling was made from my favorite crème fraiche/Cottage Cheese, Vanilla and Powdered Sugar. By the way, I hope you make this like I did. The beautiful pink color of the frosting compliments the pink cupcake so well and makes the cupcake's pink cupcake look great! You should try this out for your next bake sale! Saw this recipe over at fat secret from South Beach and was intrigued to read it. I know there's some kind of cookbook at our library but when I go in there I get this intense craving for anything South Beach. I'm hoping to get my hands on it soon and make this scrumptious recipe. I was a little skeptical of using "splenda" and I wasn't sure if I should use light cream cheese or regular so I decided to try it both ways. I found the Splenda worked out great, the flavor was subtle and the cream cheese was still quite cheesy. It's a winner in my books. If you want to try this recipe, I highly recommend using a 9x13 pan. 5. Spread a thin layer of the cream cheese frosting on top of the cupcakes and then spread the mashed bananas on top. Using the top of a large drinking glass, gently smash each cupcake to flatten it slightly. Top each cupcake with a small pat of butter. Top the butter with a tiny dollop of the berry jam. Melt the butter in a medium nonstick skillet over medium-high heat. Add the cranberries and raisins; cook, stirring, 3 minutes or until golden. Add the cranberries and raisins to the roasting pan; stir well. Roast the cranberry mixture, stirring occasionally, 5 minutes or until the cranberries are tender and the raisins are slightly caramelized. Flower crowns seem to be 82157476af
